League Cites Need Of Low, Moderate Income Housing In Arlington

Housing in Arlington will be the topic of a Feb. 4 meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters which this week issued a report that Arlington faces a crisis situation in which housing costs have outstripped the means of many residents.

The League's meeting will begin at Fox Branch Library at 8 p.m. On the panel will be Mrs. Howard Winkler, chairman of the League Committee on Development of Human Resources; which wrote the report; Robert Hauser, Executive Director of the Arlington Housing Authority; Leo Young, Director of Planning and Development; and Robert McKay, Director of the Boston Citizens Housing and Planning Association.

The League of Women Voters hopes that this meeting will be the first step in formation of a joint effort by town officials and citizens to develop plans to relieve the shortage of low and moderate income housing.

In the introduction to its 20 page report the League says, "Based on the median income and housing costs in Arlington in 1969, it is clear to the League that a large number of Arlington residents cannot continue to afford to live in this community without sacrificing other essential needs such as proper diet or medical care."

The report applies guidelines for housing found in Chapter 774, the Massachusetts zoning law to encourage construction of low and moderate income housing, to Arlington and finds many deficiencies.

According to the report these guidelines include 10 per cent of existing housing subsidized for low and moderate income and 1 1/2 per cent of total land zoned residential or industrial being used for this subsidized housing.

In applying these standards the League report finds that Arlington is short 1,024 units of subsidized housing. It has only 484 out of 15,080 units of housing (1960 census) in the town. There is also a deficiency of 18 acres, with 15 acres of 2,200 zoned used for low and moderate income housing.

According to the report apartment rents start from $140 and most house sale prices are over $30,000. The median income in Arlington is $10,500.

Four major groups of residents now receive housing subsidies. There are elderly for whom 308 units of housing will soon be available. They must meet income and five year residency requirements to get into Housing Authority apartments in which there are eight to 10 vacancies a year and 300

Daly Not To Run

Jo-Ann Benoit, William Abbott Take Out Papers For Office Here

Two candidates have taken out papers for major office since last week.

William S. Abbott, 50 Melvin rd., took out papers in the contest for Board of Selectmen. Abbott was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress in 1968 and has lived in Arlington for the past two years.

Abbott said that while he has taken out papers, this didn't necessarily mean that he would file them. The papers are circulating and he will try to assess citizen reaction to his candidacy before making a final decision on running, he stated.

Jo-Ann Benoit, 91 Everett st., took out papers in the race for election to the School Committee. According to the Town Clerk's office she moved to Arlington last year and last week registered to vote, and took out papers for Town Meeting Member and School Committee all in the same day.

However, Joseph S. Daly, 143 Washington st., who had taken out papers for both Selectman and School Committee, this week in a letter to the editor, stated that he would not be a candidate for public office because of business commitments.

As The Advocate went to press there were 15 candidates who had taken out papers for major office.

There are four in the Selectmen's race: incumbents John J. Bitafer and Kevin P. Feeley and candidates William S. Abbott and John Macaris.

Six persons have taken out

For Town Employees

Myriad Of Pay Raise Articles

Town Meeting members will have eight chances to vote raises for employees at the coming Town Meeting, March 16.

Four of these chances concern all employees: one covers all employees except fire and police personnel; another concerns grades from patrolman to captain in the police department and still another has to do with firefighter through deputy in the fire department.

Another request would grant a 10 per cent raise to fire and police personnel.

Confused -- if not then there is still time to be.

The requests are for raises for three per cent, six and one-half per cent, seven per cent and 10 per cent.

The Warrant Article inserted by the Town Manager and the Personnel Board would grant town employees a six and one-half per cent pay hike.

The Finance Committee article would give all employees a three per cent raise.

A ten registered voters article seeks to grant employees a 10 per cent increase; another 10 voters would give the employees seven per cent.

But wait, there is more. The town employees union, unable to reach a settlement in negotiations with the town, submitted their request for wage increase to a three-member Advisory Board as called for in the union contract. This Board has inserted an article that would give the employees (except police and fire) a seven per cent pay increase. Under another article, inserted by the Town Manager and the Personnel Board, patrolmen, sergeants, lieutenants and police captains would receive a change in classification.

The Manager said he feels that the job of the police officer has changed considerably over the past few years and that he believes a change in classification is warranted.

Traditionally, fire and police pay scales have been parallel, but the Manager and Personnel Board have not recommended a classification change for firefighters. However, 10 registered voters have.

This article would make the same classification change for

Finance Committee To Hold Hearings For All Articles

Hearings conducted by the Finance Committee on warrant articles will start Feb. 2.

The following schedule has been announced by committee chairman George K. Rugg.

Monday, Feb. 2: Articles 20-24, 27, 29-35.

Thursday, Feb. 5: Articles of the School Committee, Planning and Development Director and Planning Board.

Saturday, Feb. 7: Articles 25, 26, 40, 52, 74, 75, 79, 81, 103 and 112.

Monday, Feb. 9: Town Manager and Board of Selectmen articles.

Thursday, Feb. 12: School Facilities Survey Committee and Conservation Commission articles.

Saturday, Feb. 14: Articles 37,

42, 50, 51, 76-78, 114-117.

All hearings will be held in the Town Hall Hearing Room. Times will be arranged and will be available from Richard E. Smith, 38 Washington st., the committee's executive secretary.

Notice of the hearings will be sent to all sponsoring organizations and the first 10 signers of the warrant articles.

Rugg asks that any literature concerning articles scheduled for hearing be delivered to Smith at his home as early as possible so that Finance Committee members may study it.

20% Tax Rate Increase Looks Certain; State Aid, Free Cash Short

The predicted 20% tax rate increase for 1970 is beginning to look bigger and bigger all the time.

This week Town Manager Donald Marquis told the Selectmen that initially he had felt the Finance Committee estimate was a little high, but "I think we are talking about 20% now. That's an $8 increase."

What made the manager change his assessment was a report from the town accountant that the "free cash" or surplus fund came out considerably lower at the end of 1969 than in past years.

In 1969 the free cash amounted to $804,000 of which some $550,000 was applied toward reducing the tax rate. The 1970 fund is only $251,000 which, according to Finance Committee Chairman George Rugg, means that only about $150,000 will be available to be applied toward the 1970 tax rate.

A story in the Boston Herald-Traveler this week said that Arlington will lose another $500,000 in state aid under the funding formula which was adjusted by the legislature last year. But this figure is only an educated guess, according to Town Accountant Carmen Foritano who checked with the State House in an attempt to verify the report.

Foritano said efforts are being made in Boston to distribute "Cherry Sheet" figures, indicating the state aid allotments, before the town meeting. Last year, however, these figures weren't released by the state until August. Until they are, the actual amount of state aid won't be known.

The Finance Committee based its original prediction of a $6 to $8 increase in the tax rate on (1) increased charges for state and county services (2) increase in tax abatements (3) state aid reduction and (4) assumption that the town meeting would pass no more than the $603,000 in warrant articles it passed last year. But it didn't count on a drop-off as much as $500,000 in state aid, which would amount to $1.44 on the tax rate.

Town Receives $3176 Settlement

In Anti-Trust Case

Arlington has received a check for $3,176 from Attorney General Robert H. Quinn's office, a portion of the $500,000 settlement recovered by the Attorney General's office in the favorable settlement of an anti-trust case against 10 copper piping companies accused of price-fixing.

The present payment constitutes two-thirds of a total $4,850

Nixon Veto

School Department To Lose Over $200,000 Federal Funds

President Nixon's veto of a $19.7 billion measure for health, education and anti-poverty programs will take over $200,000 in federal aid from Arlington.

The vetoed measure, which included $1.26 billion more than the president wanted, was returned to the House of Representatives. According to The New York Times, a key to sustaining the veto is the president's willingness to accept the politically popular program of aid to federally impacted school districts.

Better known as Public Law 874, this aid goes to communities which

For Town Buildings

Low Sulphur Fuel Urged Here

Low sulphur fuel oil for town buildings will soon be available in the Boston area and will considerably assist in reducing air pollution. Robert Lerner, president of the Arlington Conservation Association, told the Board of Selectmen on Monday.

Lerner said that because the City of Boston has required that oil users burn only low sulphur grade fuels, the major petroleum distributors will soon be stocking this type of oil in Boston.

Last November the Selectmen asked Fire Chief Robert Blomquist to investigate the possibility of converting all town buildings to a low sulphur type fuel in order to reduce air pollution. But at that time the nearest supply of No. 4 grade low sulphur oil was Providence, R. I.

According to Chief Blomquist, the library and the Robbins House burn No. 2 oil (similar to most residences and of low sulphur content) and most other buildings use No. 5 oil.

The oil in grades 4, 5 and 6 comes in two types, regular and low-sulphur. Low sulphur No. 6 is currently available for commercial buildings but requires pre-heaters which Arlington buildings don't have. No. 4 and 5 low-sulphur hasn't been available.

The Selectmen indicated that the town will switch to low sulphur heating fuel for next year.

Although the cost is slightly higher than regular oil the board was of the opinion that the town should show leadership in this area.

Lerner also asked that the town consider prohibiting the construction of open-flue-type incinerators in new apartment buildings. This could be written into the new building code that will be considered at the town meeting.

Collins' Corner

By Leonard Collins

For many years town government and the old-fashioned town meetings were held up as models of democracy at its best, but those who lived in these communities and took a close look at their operation were not so sure.

Some years back an invited group of citizens chosen from a good cross section of the town met with the Selectmen from Brookline to find out how they operated, but no change was adopted, and until the Town Manager's Act was voted into being by the voters the old-fashioned way of doing business was continued.

So complicated was our form that folks moving in from the cities became quite confused by the many duplications. At one time we voted at our annual elections for the Planning Board, Park Commissioners, Board of Health, Cemetery Commissioners, Library Trustees, Tree Warden, Public Works Dept., Commissioners of Sinking Fund, Trustees of Pratt Fund, Town Treasurer and Tax Collector, Trustees of the Edwin S. Farmer Poor Widows' Fund, and the Fund for the Needy. These now are appointed by the Town Manager, with the approval of the Board of Selectmen, so that today, we vote for Moderator, five Selectmen, Tax Collector, combined with the Treasurer, Assessors, Town Clerk, the School Committee, and Housing Authority. Cities have a more streamlined operation with a few councilmen and a mayor. But here, when a new citizen arrived to ask questions he would in most cases go to the Selectmen, and then he might start on a long trip around "Robin Hood's barn" and become weary and give up, for the members of all those elected boards could politely tell the three selectmen in the front office to tend to their own knitting. In the 1920's, the Fire Chief had the right to hire and fire, and promote, and never did ask the Selectmen if he could do so. Finally firefighters came under Civil Service in the 1930's and even after that he has the power of picking his men as long as he stays within the confines and rules of the Civil Service Act. Today the Town Manager picks the men from that list.

An interesting procedure was the Joint Board of Public Works with three elected men and the three Selectmen holding hearings on the construction of streets. They voted on the ones to be built, put the articles in the Warrant, and when the Town Meeting voted the money the Selectmen's duties were over, as they had no authority as to the contractor or any other part of the work. Citizens who attended the hearing would see the Selectmen at the meetings, but later when inquiring about a certain aspect of the construction would be told they should go to the three Public Works gentlemen for the information. Very interesting and terribly confusing for those who hadn't studied this complicated set-up.

So it was with interest that the writer read of the proposed article going in our Town Warrant to establish a Dept. of Properties and Natural Resources which would combine many groups now doing much of the same work. Brookline, by the way, never did accept the Town Manager Act. In 1920 the vote for Selectmen was 820 to 819. BUT the old fogies at that period would not allow the fairer sex to vote, so one imagines there would be much squirming down in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery today if they knew a local lady named Mrs. Errol Y. Jacobsen of 6 Shawnee rd., has become the new President of the League of Women Voters for the State of Massachusetts, and the writer of this "Corner" who lives just around "the corner" congratulates Mrs. Jacobsen.

Six Arrested By Police Here

Two Connecticut teenagers were arrested by Arlington police at 3 a.m. Jan. 25, and charged with unlawful possession of marijuana. The arresting officers were James Mangiancotti and Paul O'Brien. Earlier, at about 4:40 a.m., Jan. 24, Officers Ronald Tocio and James Kearns had arrested two teenage girls and a Cambridge resident after a car chase along Mass. ave.

Advocate Answers

An unidentified writer who signs himself as an irate taxpayer says that he disagrees with a report that there was a snow storm on Dec. 24. "I was in Arlington and do not recall any storm for that date. That would warrant the use of snow plows (most of the time with the blades raised up.)"

DPW Administrative Assistant Jack Bowler says that the Northeast Weather Service reports 50 inches of snow and .03 inches of rain on that date. The DPW had seven sanding units out from midnight to 7 a.m. because of slippery road conditions.

Bowler points out that two-thirds of Arlington is hills, and with the low temperatures during December, which was the wettest in years, it was necessary to sand almost every night.

He notes that the trucks which sand also have plows, which is why this taxpayer saw blades up. In addition, some plows are kept on equipment even when they won't be immediately used to save the time of taking them off and putting them on. This was the case on December 24 because a storm had been forecast.

Residents On WCAS

School Facilities Survey chairman Irving Stein and committee member Mrs. Kenneth Spengler will be on WCAS today at 2 p.m. Tomorrow at 2 p.m. John Balafer and Dr. Victor Gelineau, chairman and vice chairman of Arlington's Drug Action Committee will appear. Dr. Gelineau is director of the state drug addiction rehabilitation board.

The political scene is taking on a color.

It's not nice to talk about these things in a non-partisan election, but strangely enough there are two Republicans and two Democrats running for two seats on the Board of Selectmen.

The Republicans felt they needed a name candidate to have a chance of winning a seat away from the democratic incumbents Feeley and Balafer. So they prevailed upon Bill Abbott to carry the flag.

Mat suspects all was going rosy with Abbott waiting in the wings to announce, and a potential running mate standing by. Then Republican John Macaris threw his hat in the ring without telling any of the "in" group first. John thought it was non-partisan.

So Abbott and his planned running mate had to draw straws. Bill's not sure whether he won or lost but he's in the race.

Ideally, a Republican blueprint for victory would have Abbott carrying the lofty and untarnished banner with a running mate attacking the incumbents from all sides. But John Macaris can't be depended upon to play according to these rules. He's his own man.

Abbott and Macaris are both sincere and interested in honest government on the local level. (Abbott is interested in government on other levels too.)

The Republican machinery is suffering from an initial case of unsynchronized gears. Macaris won't run a campaign of personal attacks against the incumbents and neither will Abbott. So the Republicans are forced to face a white glove battle with two strong incumbents.

Abbott is taking a chance. He's admittedly still interested in Washington.

This campaign is a must win for him. He ran well against Torbert Macdonald in his first time out for Congress in 1968. But running well isn't enough in the Selectmen's race.

Kevin Feeley has shaken off the suggestion that he'd be more valuable to his boss, Kevin White.

in the campaign this fall, as an "ex-selectman" than as a defeated selectman. He'll be running at full tilt for reelection.

As purchasing agent for the City of Boston, Feeley feels he's getting a lot of experience that is valuable to him and the town in his role as an Arlington Selectman. And he reminds those who speak of his demise that it's a two-way street.

If Feeley is re-elected, and if Kevin White wins the governorship, then Arlington will be in a very favorable position with Selectman Feeley occupying an inside post on Beacon Hill. White has taken care of Feeley in the past and one can safely assume he'd do so in the future.

There are a lot of "ifs" but White is running hard for Governor and Feeley will run just as hard for Selectman.

John Balafer is going to be tough to beat. He's been very active locally and will run strong. Balafer, along with School Committeeman Bob Murray, led the way toward establishment of the Arlington Teen Center at the high school.

It's turning out to be a successful project in spite of a few early problems. Balafer deserves a lot of credit. And he'll get it from the parents and from people who see the Teen Center as a major step in getting the kids off the streets.

Balafer is also a member of the town Drug Committee where he's been active in studying this major community problem and recommending a plan of action. He's close to the young people of Arlington; though most of them don't vote he's counting on others recognizing that there is a lot of work to be done in this area and a need for leadership.

So he's probably the strongest of the Democratic incumbents. And Mat has it on good authority that Balafer is not interested in running for higher office.

Mat will take a look at the School Committee race next week.

THE BOX SCORE: All present at both the School Committee and the Selectmen's meetings this week.

To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I'm sure the Advocate's lead story concerning the Arlington school situation was read with more than usual interest and exasperation by many Arlington parents.

For years parents in the town's critical school areas have worked hard to bring to the attention of school officials the situation which now confronts the town. It is almost unbelievable that the town could have spent $40,000 for information which is obvious to any citizen. The money could have been spent for classrooms.

School officials admit that portable classrooms are cheaper than busing, yet what are we doing? Why, of course, we bus. I wonder how many classrooms could have been built with the bills we are paying for busing? Parents of children taking the buses have many complaints and they worry about their children, but it's a great idea for school officials who aren't personally involved.

At many meetings, proposals, alternatives and predictions not unlike the Advocate's brief summary of the Booz-Allen, Hamilton Report were suggested to school officials, but they always fell on ears which offered only sympathy and busing. It is hard to imagine school officials letting us get into the situation we now find ourselves. I feel it is their responsibility to warn the taxpayers of school crises as they occur. Now, of course, we can blame an outsider's report.

The five proposed articles are a start. It remains for the Town Meeting to have some courage to pass them. Sure we have high taxes and this will really cost us some money, but let's put Arlington schools back where they used to be and let's remember that the biggest, best and most important product this town has is its youth.

Sincerely,
George R. McKinley

TO THE EDITOR:
Because of business commitments, I regretfully withdraw my name as a candidate for any major public office in the upcoming Town election.

However, I still intend to be actively involved in our town government, but feel that I do not have the time to give which would be needed if involved in a major office.

Very truly yours,
Joseph S. Daly

TO THE EDITOR:

I wish to publicly express my appreciation and thanks to all the personnel at the Symmes Hospital who were so kind and patient with my wife during her 13 day stay at the hospital. The nurses, nurses aides, volunteers, and Candy Stripe Girls certainly are by their example "All things to all men." Arlington is fortunate in having such a nice hospital. In closing I would like to encourage any and all girls and ladies who wish to join to become a nurse or volunteer. We need nurses so badly today. Once again, Thank You.

Considering the discipline problems that have faced colleges and high schools across the nation, takeovers, destruction of property, roughing up of educators, intimidation, etc., I wonder what action will be taken against the little town of Leyden. For the horrendous crime of PRAYING in the schools.

TO THE EDITOR:

In behalf of all concerned with Arlington Little League, I wish to extend sincere thanks to The Arlington Advocate for publishing the named of all the Arlington business firms and organizations who sponsor a major league team each season. However, let us not forget that without our Minor Leagues many boys would be deprived of playing the game of baseball.

I would like at this time to publicly list the business establishments and clubs who annually sponsor a minor league team:

Western League:
Patriots - Holovak & Coughlin
Sporting Goods - Capsules
Menotomy Pharmacy - Orioles
Arlex Oil Corp. - Senators
Arlington Town Employees Union. Local No. 680.

Southern League:
Red Sox - Brattle Drug Co.
Lions - Sons of Italy, Pirates

Northern League:
Devils - Maran Printing Service, Braves - Suburban National Bank, Tinkers - Flatley's Shell Station, Hawks - Warren St. Market.

It goes without saying, that all these sponsors deserve the patronage of everyone in Arlington, and certainly without them, our Little League program would not be as successful as it is.

Sincerely,
Al Weismann

Identification cards with photographs will be started this weekend at the Arlington Teen Center which meets at the high school cafeteria.

The cards will be issued Friday and Saturday for a charge of $1.25 to cover costs. Cards will be available on several other weekends to assure that all students who wish a card receives one.

All Arlington residents in Grades 9 to 12 are eligible for the teen center cards and will gain admission to the center for the regular 25 cents admission. Card holders will be allowed to bring guests for whom they will be responsible.

During the past weekend about 1000 students visited the center which is open Friday and Saturday nights. During the past few weeks some new chaperones have been hired. Arlington high graduates who are now in college.

Against Measles

Vaccine Will Be Given In Elementary Schools

Children attending kindergartens and the first three grades of public and parochial schools will be immunized against Rubella (German measles) during the next few weeks.

The Arlington Board of Health, in conjunction with the School Department and school nurses, will conduct a German Measles Immunization Program in the schools. The vaccine which was licensed by the United States on June 9, 1969, and is state-provided, is safe and effective. It is expected that the immunity is of long duration and probably lifelong.

According to the Board of Health, this is the first phase in a major campaign to eliminate Rubella from the state. The reason for immunizing the children in the initial grades of school is that children aged 5-9 are in the largest classification to be attacked by the virus.

The Department of Public Health has advised local boards of health that the vaccine is not considered to be communicable, thus, it is safe for a child of a pregnant mother to receive the vaccine. The most important objective of a rubella control program is the prevention of Maternal Rubella which can be accomplished by reducing the Rubella virus in the community through the immunization of children.

The Rubella Control Program initially will be aimed at the immunization of children of both sexes in the early grades of school to reduce the reservoir of Rubella virus in the community to prevent the transmission of infections to others, particularly to adult women still susceptible to this disease.

Parents are urged to have their children immunized. In order to do so, they must complete and sign the parental consent form which will be distributed in school. The forms are to be returned to the teacher immediately. Should a parent not want to have his child participate, he should indicate this on the consent form and return it to the teacher.

The Board of Health offers the following guidance to parents: The vaccine should not be given to those individuals known to have a sensitivity to chickens, ducks, chicken or duck eggs, feathers or neomycin.

The vaccination should be postponed until the patient has recovered from a fever.

Vaccination should not be given to patients with leukemia, lymphoma, generalized malignancy, patients who have received therapy with steroids, alkylating drugs, antimetabolites or irradiation.

Patients with gamma globulin deficiency should not take the vaccine. German Measles should not be confused with Measles as they are not one and the same. Contact your family physician if there is any question.

The Key Club is a service club for boys in the ninth through twelfth grades who are recommended for membership by their principal. Qualifications are character, scholarship and potential leadership ability.

The Key Clubs are organized with the same offices and committees the Kiwanis Club has. They both share the motto "We Build."

First officers of the Arlington High School Key Club are President, Donald Garrity; vice-presidents, Roger Duggan and Andrew Taves; secretary, Richard Lapini; Treasurer, Vincent Megna; Directors, Mark Sullivan, Robert Nardella and Timothy Butler.

Club members include Robert Bertolami, Thomas Dillon, Ronald Penton, Leonard Calandrella, John Boyle, Brian Boyle, And, William Fallon, Kevin Freni, Philip Ludka, Leo Doherty, Gary Chapman, John Ahern, and Peter O'Flaherty.

Serving on the Kiwanis Club's Key Club Committee are Dr. Franklin Hawkes, Arthur A. Maranian, William Houser and Richard Pochini. Vincent D'Antona is the club's advisor.

President of the club which is in its 45th year is George Mazmanian.

For Town Meeting

185 Candidates Take Out Papers

A seemingly endless number of candidates are taking out papers for Town Meeting membership in Arlington.

As recently as two weeks ago there were more vacancies than candidates for three year terms in nine of the 14 precincts in the community.

At press time this week there were a total of 185 candidates who had taken out papers for one, two or three year terms.

Precinct 13 is the only one where there are fewer candidates than vacancies.

Precincts 2 and 11 have the largest number of candidates, because of the necessity of electing 15 and 30 meeting members. This takes place because of a change in the number of meeting members to be elected from 18 to 15 in Precinct 2 and from 27 to 30 in Precinct 11.

There are now 40 candidates who have taken out papers in Precinct 11, and 19 who have taken out papers in Precinct 2.

The top 10 vote getters in Precinct 11 and the top five in Precinct 2 will be elected for three year terms. The second 10 and five for two years and the third 10 and five for one year.

A breakdown of candidates who have taken out papers for three year terms is as follows:

In Precinct 1 there are eight seeking four seats; there are four seeking three seats in Precinct 3 and seven seeking five spots in Precinct 4.

Precinct 5 has 10 candidates for seven spots; Precinct 6 has nine for four and Precinct 7 has 7 for 5.

In Precinct 8 there are 10 candidates for five seats; 14 for six spots in Precinct 9 and eight for five spots in Precinct 10.

Seven candidates seek six seats in Precinct 12; five seek six spots in Precinct 13 and 15 seek nine spots in Precinct 14.

There are a total of 13 who have taken out papers for two years spots. One candidate seeks one seat in Precinct 4; three seek a seat in Precinct 5; three seek one seat in Precinct 8; two seek one seat in Precinct 10; one seeks one seat in Precinct 13 and three seek one spot in Precinct 14.

Nine candidates have taken out papers for one year terms.

There are three seeking one seat in both Precincts 8 and 10 and three seeking two seats in Precinct 12.

Saturday at 5 p.m. is the final day for candidates to file papers with the office of the Registrars.

Kirby Suggests Using Volunteers In Classrooms

School Committee candidate Eugene Kirby wants to utilize Arlington's human resources to broaden and strengthen courses in the schools.

He suggests that volunteers be selected from among local professional people and industry specialists to address junior high and high school students taking courses related to the speaker's profession. Nearby industries like Raytheon, Honeywell and Arthur D. Little could provide speakers, also, Kirby suggests.

Coordination of the proposed program would be in the hands of the supervisor to recruit volunteer personnel, a newly created school department position scheduled to become operative next September.

The supervisor would continue to recruit parents for clerical and classroom chores.

McCabe Will Go To Washington For WEMBROC

Representatives of WEMBROC, including Arlington's Harry McCabe, president of the Western Metropolitan Boston Regional Opportunity Council, expect to be in Washington tomorrow to meet with OEO officials to discuss the $51,000 out in funding.

McCabe will meet with Mrs. Janet Neussman of the OEO Operations Department and John Kirby who serves as Congressional liaison.

During the last few weeks since WEMBROC was denied refunding for central administration and program development and was given through March to phase out, many officials have contacted OEO in protest.

Last week a letter was sent to OEO director Donald Rumsfeld by Robert A. Aleshire, executive director of the National Association for Community Development, an association of all community action program directors.

Aleshire said, "the fairest thing to do in the case of WEMBROC is not to defund but rather to perhaps double the amount of local initiative funds in 1970."

Aleshire pointed out that OEO's expectations for WEMBROC were unrealistic in relation to the amount of funds provided. "I foresee no situation in which any reasonable man would expect that such a small staff working in an area of 300,000 people spread over such a large geographic area could possibly have met this standard."

Continued Aleshire, "In fact, the burden of proof may lie with OEO for not having adequately funded this community and now with the community itself."

Aleshire's letter also noted that with only three professionals and a budget of $50,000 WEMBROC developed 11 program plans only two of which, Head Start and job training, got any funds.

T.V. Sets Are Targets Here

Television sets seemed to be the targets of robbers who broke into several Arlington homes during the past week.

A television set, valued at $300 and an amount of cash were reported taken from an apartment at 78 Broadway, Jan. 22.

A tape recorder, valued at $115 and a camera, valued at $125 were reported missing at 108 Decatur st., on the same day.

Meanwhile, according to Arlington police, a television set, valued at $180 and a record player, valued at $110 were taken from an apartment at 224 Mass. ave.

On Jan. 25, a television set, valued at $169, a coffee pot, a ring and a watch were reported missing from an apartment in East Arlington.

A television set along with a silver set and two candle holders were reported taken from an apartment at 995 Mass. ave., Jan. 25.

Meanwhile, on Jan. 24, a snow blower, valued at $200, was reported stolen from the rear of a home at 2 University rd.

On Jan. 26, 12 tapes were reported stolen from a car owned by a Medford resident.

Meanwhile, on Jan. 24, a Somerville man reported that a brown leather bag containing basketball referee's equipment had been stolen from his car parked on Pleasant st.

3 Year Term

John S. Perry Announces For The Board Of Assessors

John G. Perry, 61 Tanager st., has announced his candidacy for the office of Assessor.

Perry, a lifelong resident of Arlington, is a graduate of the Arlington Public Schools and Bentley College of Accounting and Finance. He was selected to attend the American Savings and Loan Institute where he studied real estate law, real property appraisal, mortgage financing, and general construction and banking principles, as well as municipal finance.

Perry says that as Chairman of the Precinct 14 Town Meeting Members and as Treasurer of the Town Meeting Association, he is aware of the many problems facing Arlington as the new decade begins.

He is a Charter Member and former Treasurer of the Arlington Jaycees and a member of the Arlington Knights of Columbus.

With 10 years' experience as a bank executive, Perry serves as Treasurer and Executive Officer of the Glendale Square Co-operative Bank and holds a commission from the Governor as a Notary Public.

Perry says that he would like to introduce modern and streamlined business procedures to the Office of Assessor. Because of the delay in sending tax bills to Arlington homeowners, the town was forced to spend an unnecessary $47,000 in interest charges in 1969 alone, he notes.

At present there are approximately $440,000 in uncollected real property tax funds due the Town of Arlington, he says.

As a result of the spiralling tax rate, many citizens of Arlington face a financial crisis, Perry believes. Those living on fixed incomes face the serious question of whether or not they can continue to live in Arlington.

The Board of Assessors can do its part to help curb the runaway tax rate with imaginative leadership and the introduction of modern techniques, says Perry.

He is married to the former Dorothy Scanlon. They are home owners and the parents of five children.

Federal Funds

educate children whose parents are employed in federal facilities. The Administration asked for $200 million for this program which was increased in the House-Senate measure to $600 million. Some 385 Congressional districts benefit.

While Arlington initially stands to lose $88,000 in 1970 due to the Presidential veto, it might get some of it back if the veto is upheld by Congress and the President, in return, supports a substitute bill that includes PL874 funds. (Of course, should the veto be overridden, the town would get the $88,000 anyway.)

According to Town Accountant Carmen Foritano, there is a $112,363 balance in the PL874 account now, most of which was to be applied toward the 1970 school budget. If no new PL874 funds are forthcoming in 1970, Arlington's 1971 school budget to be raised by taxes will show the effect of this cut in Federal funds.

At the moment Arlington has no federal school aid funds for 1970. Under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Arlington received about $50,000 last year which was used for remedial programs.

About $4,000 in library funds under Title II is lost. Arlington received about $60,000 under Title III for such programs as Operation Male and about $10,000 under Title V for special education programs. Another $20,000 will be lost in science and guidance funds.

According to Supt. of Schools Bert A. Roens "these programs have just died." The funds which have been lost will not be replaced in the school department budget by local money.

Dr. Roens says that his understanding of what Nixon originally proposed is that federal aid would be so watered down that towns like Arlington would get practically nothing.

Pay Raises

firefighters, fire lieutenants, captains and deputy chiefs as would apply to the police under the Manager's article.

The reclassification means about a three per cent increase and, if approved, any other increases would be in addition to this change of classification.

Still another article would grant raises of 10 per cent to firefighters and police. The latter article was also inserted by ten registered voters.

However, what happens if Town Meeting should vote down articles 5 and 15, the Personnel Board article and the Finance Committee article requesting six and one-half per cent and three per cent pay increases?

This would leave employees including fire and police without any increases in pay except for classification changes, unless articles requesting seven and 10 per cent hikes are approved.

papers in the School Committee contest: incumbents Thomas D. Kenna and Carl F. Allen and candidates Jo-Ann Benoit, Eugene J. Kirby, Richard A. Kraus and Earl R. Rowe.

Candidates for Board of Assessors who have taken out papers are incumbent William O. Hauser Jr. and candidates Paul E. Cantrell and John S. Perry.

Incumbent Joseph S. Vahey and candidate Thomas M. Kelly have taken out papers in the Housing Authority contest.

Candidates may take out papers until 5 p.m. today, Jan. 29, and must file papers with the Registrars of Voters by Jan. 31.

Schwamb Mill

TV Coverage

Gets Response

Arlington's Schwamb Mill was featured on WHDH-TV's "The Week Ends Here," Saturday evening, and according to Mrs. John Fitzmaurice, member of the Schwamb Mill Preservation Trust, the television coverage has aroused great interest in the mill and the frame making business.

Mrs. Fitzmaurice said that she has received many calls about the mill and the possibility of other craftsmen using space there. Tuesday's mail brought some letters, including one from an elderly on the waiting list.

Housing

Veterans' housing includes 176 units for which there are also requirements in which rents vary with the number of dependents.

Receiving welfare payments are 312 elderly on Old Age Assistance, some of whom are in public housing; 151 families getting Aid to Families with Dependent Children, some of whom are in veterans housing; and 47 disability cases, none in public housing.

Other assistance comes in the form of veterans' payments and property tax abatements. These abatements in 1968, according to the report, represented over $7 on the tax rate.

In concluding this part of the report the League notes that outside of the limited amount of public housing there is no low and little moderate cost housing. "It is clear that there is great need for an increased supply of low and moderate income housing. A larger number, perhaps close to half, of Arlington's homeowners presently spend too great a proportion of their income for housing."

In a section on the Arlington Housing Authority the report notes that the authority is "legally empowered to plan and develop such projects." This agency remains the link between thought and action in increasing the supply of such housing in Arlington.

The League recommends that woman who has some family pet-point preserved in Schwamb frames. Others have visited the mill this week and made appointments to see it.

The company is now back in business thanks to the preservation trust raising the needed $30,000 to purchase the main building. Orders for the unique oval frames have been coming in from across the country.

Funds are still needed to repay loans and meet expenses, which include rent of the heating plant and drying kiln across Mill Lane.

Making contributions during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald R. A. Nigro.

the town take advantage of programs for low and moderate income housing that do not require new construction or affect the tax base, with responsibility for implementation going to the authority.

The report discusses in some detail the potential for rental assistance. To date the authority has signed leases with four landlords permitting elderly tenants to continue in their apartments with rental assistance.

The report notes that these funds are not supposed to be limited to the elderly, but there are difficulties in applying it to low income families: paper work for the authority, resistance by landlords to families with children, lack of apartments, and the feeling of one authority member that new low income housing is not necessary.

In concluding its recommendations the League asks "all concerned citizens, groups and town officials, both elected and appointed, to join together to increase the supply of low and moderate income housing in Arlington."

Happy Ending For Little Dog

A white, curly-haired pup is alive and happy in a home today because of the thoughtfulness of an Arlington resident and a resident of Burlington.

John Hopkins of Burlington, and Richard Casa, 20 Gloucester st., Arlington, were both driving vehicles in the vicinity of Mystic Lake recently near the bridge when they spied a black dog running back and forth along the shore.

Their attention attracted they apparently both looked a second time and saw a white head bobbing along near the shore.

Both arrived at the scene in their vehicles at the same time and quickly set about to rescue the little pup.

And rescue the little dog they did.

The dog was wrapped up and dried and eventually brought to Sam Femia at the Arlington pound.

The dog was held in the pound, but early this week was claimed by one of his rescuers, Mr. Casa.

Kiwanis Club Police Award Program Feb. 5

The second annual policeman of the year award will be presented to an Arlington police officer at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Fantasia Restaurant, Feb. 5.

A plaque will be presented to the officer selected.

The award results from a follow up of a suggestion by Kiwanis International two years ago that individual Kiwanis Clubs make such a presentation to a local police officer.

Thomas Kenna is chairman of the committee planning the program for the Arlington Kiwanis Club. Others on the committee include William Houser, Richard Pochini, James McGuinness and Peter Barnaby.

Town Manager Donald R. Marquis and Police Chief Ferdinand Lucarelli have been invited to attend the program.

John W. Walsh Class Leader At Norwich U.

Cadet John W. Walsh IV, son of John W. Walsh III of 40 Pleasant View rd., is serving his second year as class president at Norwich University. Walsh is a 1967 graduate of Arlington High where he was class president.

Cadet Walsh was elected sophomore class president last spring and is also serving on the General's Roundtable for the second year in a row.

He is presently on the Sophomore Honor Committee, Cadet Activities Council, President's Advisory Board and was Chairman of last year's Winter Carnival, this year's Homecoming, and Winter Carnival.

While serving in these various positions Cadet Walsh had the honor to represent the corps at a dinner honoring General William C. Westmoreland and 23 other generals. This fall he was Cadet Escort for Vice-President Agnew's party during their visit to Vermont.

Last spring Walsh was promoted to cadre corporal in the Regimental MP Company and is now assistant Provost NCO of the Regiment. Walsh, a business administration major, is finishing his third semester at Norwich and will be spending a portion of his semester-break to recruit for the university in the greater-Boston area.

Student Council: Many thanks to the people who attended the Orpheus Concert way back in December. More than $600 was made which will be used for furniture in the Student Lounge.

The council is looking into some means of putting ventilation up through the roof of the lounge. The present ventilating system is inadequate.

The next council activity will be a "Dating Game" held at the end of February. This has been a tremendous success in the past and the council hopes it will be equally successful this year.

On Jan. 15 Dr. Roens met with the Dress Code Committee to discuss the present dress code. The committee proposed a two month trial period of abstinence.

Dr. Roens fully agreed and set up a date, Feb. 10, for the committee to meet with the school committee. The council feels that dress is a personal matter and should not have any restrictions.

unless the dress of an individual disrupts the class.

The council planned to meet to discuss a student protest of poor cafeteria conditions. A petition is being passed around containing the following demands:

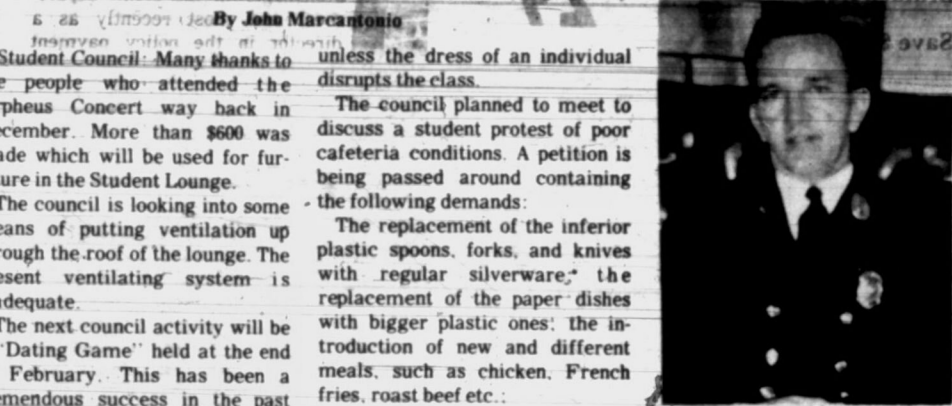

The replacement of the inferior plastic spoons, forks, and knives with regular silverware; the replacement of the paper dishes with bigger plastic ones; the introduction of new and different meals, such as chicken, French fries, roast beef etc.

Less peanut butter combinations; general improvement of the food already served as well as the way it is served.

AEX: A meeting will be announced to discuss the next activities. Mrs. Orwein, advisor, said her ultimate goal is to have a gigantic rally to take into the picture all sports of the present winter season. Stickers are still on sale in Room 81, price 35 cents.

A plaque was unveiled commemorating the bequest of Miss Edith Fox to Arlington Girl Scouts, which made Foxwood possible.

Foxwood, which will accommodate a troop of 32 girls and four adults for overnight camping, will be used year-round for troop and day camping, outdoor days, troop and leader meetings, Scout conferences and training. The surrounding site affords opportunity for skiing, skating, sledding, and swimming.

Mrs. Richard F. O'Connor was chairman of the Dedication Committee assisted by Mrs. Robert Macaulay and Cadette Troop No. 40, signs; Mrs. Otis Simpson, Jr., ribbon; and Mrs. Joseph Keenan and Cadette Troop No. 33, Mrs. Pauline Spencer, Mrs. Marlene Northrup, refreshments.

Mark Mayerson Is Winner Of Music Award

Mark Mayerson, 15-year-old Arlington High School violinist, has been named winner of the Leonard D. Wood Scholarship for 1969-1970 by the Philharmonic Society of Arlington.

Mark has studied under Anton Konar, Eleftherios Eleftherakis and Wolfe Wolfertin. He went on the recent trip to Switzerland as a member of the Greater Boston Youth Orchestra.

Honorable mention went to Arlington musicians Maria Stacey, 17, a pianist who studies under Robert Ball; and Thomas Dolan, 17, who studies percussion under Frank Epstein of New England Conservatory of Music.

Campobasso Bill Loses 110-90 On Roll Call

STATE HOUSE, Boston — The first roll call vote in the House for the 1970 session found 90 Representatives in favor of returning welfare administration to the cities and towns, with 110 voting against.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Eleanor Campobasso (D), was the first test of House sentiment toward runaway welfare costs that have increased nearly 1000 per cent in five years.

Mrs. Campobasso remarked that welfare department employees have had trouble collecting their own salaries from the welfare budget because it is being drained by recipients who don't qualify for benefits.

Chief opposition was registered by Rep. Felix Perrault (D) of Westford who said, on behalf of the Social Welfare Committee that urged defeat of the bill, that although he also had opposed state assumption of welfare, the Campobasso bill did not provide an alternate means of financing if administration were returned to the communities.

Perrault said the problem with welfare is the administration, and he remarked the Legislature cannot legislate against poor administration.

The only positive move by the House was approval of resolutions memorializing Congress to take over all welfare costs. That carried by a 175 to 35 vote.

Voting in favor of the welfare measure was Rep. Campobasso. Recorded against returning welfare administration to the communities were Reps. Edward Dever, William Pickett and Gregory Khachadourian.

Selectmen Seek Meeting With Head of MBTA Leo J. Cusick

The MBTA service in Arlington came before the Board of Selectmen once again Monday night.

More complaints by residents of the community, no answer to a previous letter and a request for a get-together with MBTA officials were again discussed.

The letters of complaint have generally been the same for several weeks now. Not enough buses and passengers waiting for long periods of time seem to be the chief "gripes" of Arlingtonians seeking to reach destinations via the MBTA.

Meanwhile, the town officials are still waiting an answer to a letter sent to the MBTA several weeks ago which would keep them informed of any problems which might arise in the MBTA system in Arlington.

This letter was sent by the Selectmen as the result of a meeting with a representative of the MBTA last month.

Selectmen, Monday night after

Peters Re-elected

John M. Peters of 7 Addison st. was recently re-elected Chairman of the Arlington Board of Health. Other members include Robert J. Carey, M.D., and Alan J. Wright, D.M.D.

Kraus Cites Need For Money's Worth In School Spending

Richard A. Kraus, candidate for School Committee, at coffees this week said there is a growing need to get every last educational ounce out of each tax dollar spent on education in Arlington.

To insure that this happens, he indicated that the School Committee would need to adopt new budgetary techniques and put much greater effort into long-range planning.

Kraus cautioned that neither he nor anyone else is likely to be able to work economic miracles. Given the inflationary economy in which we live, the school budget is going to increase every year. The question is, by how much.

He said he strongly believes that good training and hard work can both effect some savings and insure that every dollar is used to its maximum.

considerable discussion voted to send a communication to MBTA Chief Leo J. Cusick and ask for a meeting early next week, Monday or Tuesday, if possible.

Requests Survey

Selectman John Bullock wanted the meeting with the MBTA, but he also felt that a survey should be taken so that the officials would

War Withdrawal Is Subject Of Resolution

With the warrant articles submitted last week was a resolution for inclusion in the town meeting warrant calling for withdrawal of all American forces from Vietnam by the end of 1970.

The resolution, which was submitted by Rev. John D. Elder, also calls for Congress to provide for the resettlement of Vietnamese who fear reprisal.

In a letter to the Board of Selectmen Mr. Elder reminded them that the town is feeling the cost of the war in its men who have been killed and injured, its disrupted families, loss of federal funds and inflation.

"Some of you signed public advertisements on Oct. 15, 1969, calling for American withdrawal by the end of 1970. You know that the problems of Arlington cannot be solved without a redirection of our nation's resources," the letter said.

Mr. Elder noted that Boston, Cambridge, and other communities have passed similar resolutions. He said he feels the Arlington Town Meeting is the appropriate body to inform the President and Congress of the desire to have the war ended.

If town counsel rules that the resolution cannot be included in the warrant, Mr. Elder says it will be presented by a town meeting member from the floor.

The resolution, which is addressed to the President and Congress, calls on them "to hasten drastically the safe and orderly withdrawal of all combat, support and custodial forces of the United States from Vietnam and to complete their total withdrawal not later than Dec. 31, 1970. . . and through Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald memorializes Congress to insist on this policy through legislative and budgetary powers.

have more factual information to present to Mr. Cusick.

Chairman of the Board Kevin Feeley told other members that he is convinced that Arlington is not getting the service it used to receive.

Feeley also noted that it appears that Arlington is getting all the broken-down buses.

The point was brought up at this time that MBTA bus service had come in for criticism in neighboring communities of Somerville and Cambridge.

In discussion of the MBTA situation a week ago, Selectman Arthur Saul suggested that residents registering complaints with the Board be informed that the Selectmen were in contact with the MBTA relative to the subject.

Selectmen told members of the Board at that time that he had heard that the first of the new buses scheduled to be put into use had arrived.

Several of these buses are scheduled to be used on the Arlington line.

Clarice Welch's Editorial Cartoons Appear In Advocate

For the past several weeks Advocate readers have been enjoying the editorial cartoons of Mrs. Clarice Welch.

A resident of 48 Bartlett ave., Mrs. Welch is married to Thomas Welch, a Boston school vice principal, and is the mother of Tommy, 17, at New Prep. and Cynthia, 13, a student at East Junior High.

She is a member of the Conservation Association, Audubon Society, Arlington Art Association, Opus Dei, and International Institute.

Mrs. Welch attended Bryant and Stratton Art. Her hobbies are oil painting, wall murals and carpentry.

Cantrell Calls For Equalization In Assessments

Paul Cantrell, candidate for Assessor, said this week that he intends to concentrate on inequities in assessment.

Cantrell says that despite revaluation there are many inequities. "Should properties of special interest groups be assessed at four times under their realistic value, unfair values such as this mean higher taxes for the homeowner."

He added that the town must strive for "equalization" assessment, for without it there will be many injustices.

"Equalization is possible to achieve through intelligent use of proper data which is available to assessors. All parties should pay their fair share of the tax burden," Cantrell says.

Vocational Board Sees First Draft Of Regional Pact

Members of the Minuteman Regional Vocational School Planning Board recently took a look at the first draft of a regionalization agreement which would form a regional vocational school district comprising the towns of Acton, Arlington, Boxborough, Belmont, Carlisle, Concord, Lexington, Lincoln, Sudbury, Stow, Wayland and Weston.

The agreement calls for a regional school committee made up of 12 members - one from each town. After the initial formation of the committee, four members will come up for election each year, and the term of office will be three years.

Capital costs for school construction will be apportioned to the member towns annually in December according to the ratio between each town's pupil enrollment in the school and the pupil enrollment from all member towns on that date.

Estimated 1970 enrollment, grades 9-12, for Arlington is 2810. Enrollment quotas would amount to about 7 percent of the grade 9-12 enrollment in each town if a 1000 student school were built.

Location, size, curriculum and estimated cost of the new school are still to be determined by the board. The Curriculum Committee favors a full-time, self-contained school, rather than a school where students will receive only vocational-technical education while taking all their academic subjects at their regular high school.

The committee felt the school should start out with only grades 9-12, possibly adding two more grades at the post-graduate level later on. The committee concluded that the school should accept all students who can benefit from vocational-technical education.

Arlington In Review

This Week in 1875

A slight accident to the 7:10 train from Boston, necessitated its laying over at Lexington, and as a consequence the train which usually leaves the center station at 9:30 was nearly an hour behind.

This Week in 1960

The Advocate of the day was praised in the pages of the Cambridge Chronicle as follows:

"The Arlington Advocate is showing marked enterprise in the issuing of two illustrated holiday supplements. We also notice a general improvement in the Advocate and a deserved increase in advertising patronage."

This Week in 1920

The Board of Health announced that through the generosity and public spiritness of on of the town's citizens, the establishment of a Dental Clinic in connection with the public Schools has been made possible.

The Chief of Police would be pleased to receive the name of any store keeper who demands that a customer must buy a certain amount of groceries or other goods before he will sell him sugar.

Communications so received and signed with the name and address of the sender will receive proper attention and an endeavor made to stop this unlawful practice.

This Week in 1945

One hundred and four attend the Chamber of Commerce meeting at the Winchester Country Club. Philip G. Bowker explained his opposition to the centralization of power for the Greater Boston area.

Joseph Gaudet of the School Dept. was named President of the Municipal Association. Two hundred and fifty of the Association's 594 members attended.

Voter's Group Forms to Back John Macaris

A citizens' group has formed as the Macaris for Selectman Committee to support the candidacy of John Macaris.

Campaign manager is Fred Karagiannis, 21 Wyman terr. Assistant campaign manager is Nicholas Paolillo, 67 Egerton rd. Campaign treasurer is George Gennis, 22 Eustis st.

John Ciano, 83 Orvis rd., is citizens' coordinator. Area coordinators are Ronald Nigro, 115 Ronald rd., and Chester O'Brien, 101 Torndike st. Appointments secretary is Janet Archibald, 330 Mystic st.

In a campaign statement the committee says that judging from the support it has received already it appears the voters want new leadership on the Board of Selectmen.

"John Macaris, as a tax accountant, can offer a necessary change of approach to the tax problems that beset Arlington," the committee's statement says.

Selectmen Seek Meeting With Head of MBTA Leo J. Cusick

The MBTA service in Arlington came before the Board of Selectmen once again Monday night.

More complaints by residents of the community, no answer to a previous letter and a request for a get-together with MBTA officials were again discussed.

The letters of complaint have generally been the same for several weeks now. Not enough buses and passengers waiting for long periods of time seem to be the chief "gripes" of Arlingtonians seeking to reach destinations via the MBTA.

Meanwhile, the town officials are still waiting an answer to a letter sent to the MBTA several weeks ago which would keep them informed of any problems which might arise in the MBTA system in Arlington.

This letter was sent, by the Selectmen as the result of a meeting with a representative of the MBTA last month.

Selectmen, Monday night after

Peters Re-elected

John M. Peters of 7 Addison st. was recently re-elected Chairman of the Arlington Board of Health. Other members include Robert J. Carey, M.D., and Alan J. Wright, D.M.D.

Kraus Cites Need For Money's Worth In School Spending

Richard A. Kraus, candidate for School Committee, at coffees this week said there is a growing need to get every last educational ounce out of each tax dollar spent on education in Arlington.

To insure that this happens, he indicated that the School Committee would need to adopt new budgetary techniques and put much greater effort into long-range planning.

Kraus cautioned that neither he nor anyone else is likely to be able to work economic miracles. Given the inflationary economy in which we live, the school budget is going to increase every year. The question is, by how much.

He said he strongly believes that good training and hard work can both effect some savings and insure that every dollar is used to its maximum.

considerable discussion voted to send a communication to MBTA Chief Leo J. Cusick and ask for a meeting early next week, Monday or Tuesday, if possible.

Selectman John Bullock wanted the meeting with the MBTA, but he also felt that a survey should be taken so that the officials would

War Withdrawal Is Subject Of Resolution

With the warrant articles submitted last week was a resolution for inclusion in the town meeting warrant calling for withdrawal of all American forces from Vietnam by the end of 1970.

The resolution, which was submitted by Rev. John D. Elder, also calls for Congress to provide for the resettlement of Vietnamese who fear reprisal.

In a letter to the Board of Selectmen Mr. Elder reminded them that the town is feeling the cost of the war in its men who have been killed and injured, its disrupted families, loss of federal funds and inflation.

"Some of you signed public advertisements on Oct. 15, 1969, calling for American withdrawal by the end of 1970. You know that the problems of Arlington cannot be solved without a redirection of our nation's resources," the letter said.

Mr. Elder noted that Boston, Cambridge, and other communities have passed similar resolutions. He said he feels the Arlington Town Meeting is the appropriate body to inform the President and Congress of the desire to have the war ended.

If town counsel rules that the resolution cannot be included in the warrant, Mr. Elder says it will be presented by a town meeting member from the floor.

The resolution, which is addressed to the President and Congress, calls on them "to hasten drastically the safe and orderly withdrawal of all combat, support and custodial forces of the United States from Vietnam and to complete their total withdrawal not later than Dec. 31, 1970. . . and through Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald memorializes Congress to insist on this policy through legislative and budgetary powers.

have more factual information to present to Mr. Cusick.

Chairman of the Board Kevin Feeley told other members that he is convinced that Arlington is not getting the service it used to receive.

Feeley also noted that it appears that Arlington is getting all the broken-down buses.

The point was brought up at this time that MBTA bus service had come in for criticism in neighboring communities of Somerville and Cambridge.

In discussion of the MBTA situation a week ago, Selectman Arthur Saul suggested that residents registering complaints with the Board be informed that the Selectmen were in contact with the MBTA relative to the subject.

Selectmen told members of the Board at that time that he had heard that the first of the new buses scheduled to be put into use had arrived.

Several of these buses are scheduled to be used on the Arlington line.

Clarice Welch's Editorial Cartoons Appear In Advocate

For the past several weeks Advocate readers have been enjoying the editorial cartoons of Mrs. Clarice Welch.

A resident of 48 Bartlett ave., Mrs. Welch is married to Thomas Welch, a Boston school vice principal, and is the mother of Tommy, 17, at New Prep, and Cynthia, 13, a student at East Junior High.

She is a member of the Conservation Association, Audubon Society, Arlington Art Association, Opus Dei, and International Institute.

Mrs. Welch attended Brvant and Stratton and The School of Practical Art. Her hobbies are oil painting, wall murals and carpentry.

Cantrell Calls For Equalization In Assessments

Paul Cantrell, candidate for Assessor, said this week that he intends to concentrate on inequities in assessment.

Cantrell says that despite revaluation there are many inequities. "Should properties of special interest groups be assessed at four times under their realistic value, unfair values such as this mean higher taxes for the homeowner."

He added that the town must strive for "equalization," assessment, for without it there will be many injustices.

"Equalization is possible to achieve through intelligent use of proper data which is available to assessors. All parties should pay their fair share of the tax burden," Cantrell says.

Vocational Board Sees First Draft Of Regional Pact

Members of the Minuteman Regional Vocational School Planning Board recently took a look at the first draft of a regionalization agreement which would form a regional vocational school district comprising the towns of Acton, Arlington, Boxborough, Belmont, Carlisle, Concord, Lexington, Lincoln, Sudbury, Stow, Wayland and Weston.

The agreement calls for a regional school committee made up of 12 members — one from each town. After the initial formation of the committee, four members will come up for election each year, and the term of office will be three years.

Capital costs for school construction will be apportioned to the member towns annually in December according to the ratio between each town's pupil enrollment in the school and the pupil enrollment from all member towns on that date.

Estimated 1970 enrollment, grades 9-12, for Arlington is 2810. Enrollment quotas would amount to about 7 percent of the grade 9-12 enrollment in each town if a 1000 student school were built.

Location, size, curriculum and estimated cost of the new school are still to be determined by the board. The Curriculum Committee favors a full-time, self-contained school, rather than a school where students will receive only vocational-technical education while taking all their academic subjects at their regular high school.

The committee felt the school should start out with only grades 9-12, possibly adding two more grades at the post-graduate level later on. The committee concluded that the school should accept all students who can benefit from vocational-technical education.

Arlington In Review

This Week in 1875

A slight accident to the 7:10 train from Boston, necessitated its laying over at Lexington, and as a consequence the train which usually leaves the center station at 9:30 was nearly an hour behind.

This Week in 1900

The Advocate of the day was praised in the pages of the Cambridge Chronicle as follows:

"The Arlington Advocate is showing marked enterprise in the issuing of two illustrated holiday supplements. We also notice a general improvement in the Advocate and a deserved increase in advertising patronage."

This Week in 1920

The Board of Health announced that through the generosity and public spiritness of on of the town's citizens, the establishment of a Dental Clinic in connection with the public Schools has been made possible.

The Chief of Police would be pleased to receive the name of any store keeper who demands that a customer must buy a certain amount of groceries or other goods before he will sell him sugar.

Communications so received and signed with the name and address of the sender will receive proper attention and an endeavor made to stop this unlawful practice.

Town Helpers Tell Of Work In Classroom

When the second grade class of Joan Heeger at Cutter School studied community helpers recently, they got to see some of these people right in their classroom.

The guests told the class about their duties, training, responsibilities and other requirements of their work.

Mrs. Dale Brendenmuhl, mother of Richard, told about the opportunities in nursing. She is a night nurse at Symmes Hospital.

Firefighter Joseph Shea, whose son James is in the class, demonstrated emergency rescue devices used by the Arlington Fire Department.

Police Chief Ferdinand Lucarelli visited the class in which his granddaughter Lauri is a pupil and quizzed them on what they remembered from the safety tips presented earlier in the year by Safety Officer Lt. Arthur Guarente.

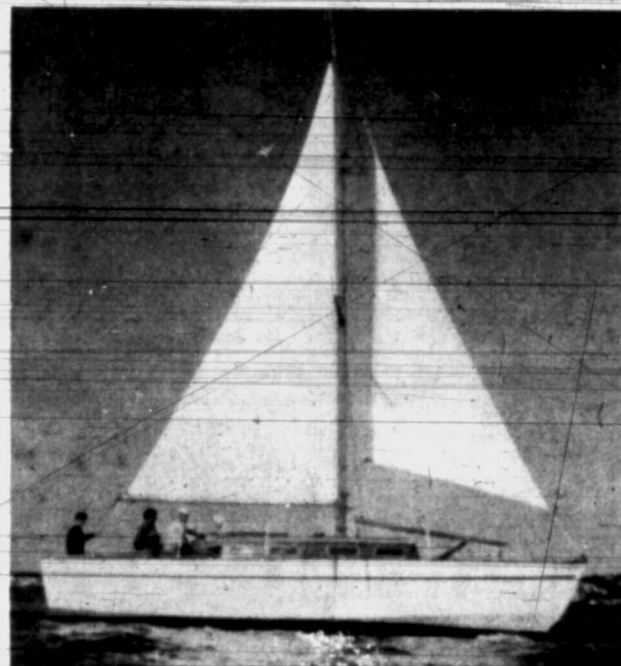

Night Planned For Candidates To School Comm

The Arlington Chapter of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children is sponsoring a School Committee Candidate's Night, Monday, Feb. 2, at 8 p.m. at the Robbins Library Hall.

Scheduled to meet with constituents and discuss views on education in the Arlington public schools are incumbents Carl Allen and Thomas Kenna. They will be joined by candidates Eugene Kirby, Richard Kraus, Ed Rowe, Joseph Daly and Joanne Benoit.

Moderator for the evening will be Richard Medley, Chapter Chairman. Following statements by the candidates a panel of Joseph Buonomo, President, Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children; Francis Donnelly, Legislative Chairman, Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children; and Mrs. Helen Janssen, Board Member, Bishop PTA, will react to the presentations.

A summary will be given by William A. Perry, Executive Director of Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children. Questions will then be welcomed from the floor on all phases of education in Arlington.
